Dr. Hinshaw in her live video update today shared "I have no plans to suggest that Alberta cancel halloween this year....in many ways Halloween is actually safer to celebrate than other holidays. Unlike Thanksgiving for example where families traditionally gather inside to enjoy dinner together, most Halloween activities take place outdoors and largely within one family. However we do need to make it as safe as possible to celebrate this year."

Halloween guidance is available online at www.Alberta.ca/halloween The website includes guidance on trick or treating, handing out candy and Halloween parties. A printable poster is available to place in windows to show if you are handing out candy or not this year. A one page printable summary of the guidance is available here:
